Re: 1933 Double Eagle Coins

Dear Mr. Shaver:

I write in response to your June 6, 2006 letter, which in turn responds to the May 8, 2006 Claim for Damage submitted on behalf of the Langbord Family pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 2675(a) and 28 C.F.R. § 14.2.

I am puzzled by your inquiries with respect to ownership and other issues, given your prior statements of the government's position that "there has been no seizure of any property that is owned by, or that could be claimed to be owned by" the Langbord Family and that, with one exception, "all 1933 Double Eagles are, and always have been, property belonging to the United States." Letter dated December 6, 2005. As you know, we vehemently dispute the government's position and believe it to be wrong as a matter of fact and law. Nevertheless, be advised as follows:

1. The Coins are the property of Joan, Roy and David Langbord, by virtue of their being the ultimate beneficiaries under the wills of Elizabeth and Israel Switt. Elizabeth Switt died in April 1985 and resided in Philadelphia County, Pennsylvania. Israel Switt died in January 1990 and also resided in Philadelphia County, Pennsylvania.

2. As you know, the Coins have a value that is not easily estimated, given that only one 1933 Double Eagle gold coin has been sold on the open market in recent years. This single coin sold for approximately $7.59 million. We note as well that other sought-after numismatic rarities have been reported to have sold for substantial seven-figure sums, such as the 1804 Class I Silver Dollar, which reportedly sold for $4,140,000 in 1999; the 1913 Liberty Head Nickel, which reportedly sold for $3 million in 2004; the 1787 Brasher Doubloon, which reportedly sold for $2,990,000 in January, 2005; and the 1907 Ultra High Relief Double Eagle, which also reportedly sold for $2,990,000 in January, 2005.

3. For further details concerning the government's tortious and unconstitutional conduct, we hereby refer you to, and attach copies of prior correspondence between the Langbord Family and the government dated July 25, 2005, September 9, 2005 and December 6, 2005.

Sincerely,

Barry H. Berke
